Hello,

I'm writing to lend my opinion on the Title IX changes as per Executive Order 14021, as per the public hearing on Title IX changes.

I am concerned that sex-based protections for women will be eliminated by the removal of sex-based, targeted language which acknowledges the reality of biological sex as a determiner of discrimination and oppression in our society.

I am concerned that erasing sex-based federal assistance will end up with fewer women receiving federal assistance to go to college despite economic obstacles specifically targeting women in society that would lend itself to targeted assistance.

I am concerned that erasing sex-based legal protections will harm women by obscuring continuing oppression on the basis of sex and making it impossible to prosecute. It is incredibly important, still, to maintain sex-based recognition, legal protection, and language in order to adequately address the issue of oppression on the basis of sex. Without proper language and proper spaces, women will suffer silently and have no means of legal defense.
