Hello,

I would like to share my opinion that opening up women's restrooms and locker rooms to those males (those with XY chromosomes) with a mental health issue that leads them to want to be women is a very dangerous step. Women who have historically been victimized by males will not suddenly feel safe because some men think they should be women. Girls and women feel victimized by this new social engineering and we fear speaking out because we may be kicked out of jobs or schools for saying women are women. Please listen and dig deeper for understanding. I worry big Pharma and the medical industrial complex are making huge profits in this ideology.
