Do you want our teachers to both indoctrinate and push progressive activism? Is this what you want to do as a teacher? I doubt this is what you signed up for. It is offensive to be told that as a minority I cannot get ahead because of someone else. I hate the victim attitude. I reject it.

U.S. voters overwhelmingly oppose critical race theory-related curricula in K-12 schools.

The survey, performed by the firm Competitive Edge Research and released by the educational research and advocacy group Parents Defending Education, notably found that 74 percent of respondents are “somewhat or strongly opposed” to white privilege training and to schools communicating minorities are inherently oppressed. A minute 6 percent were in favor of white privilege training.

“Extremists want to transform our schools into political activist training camps and it is deeply unpopular...” said Nicole Neily, president of Parents Defending Education.
