I strongly believe that Title IX must maintain its protection of women's spaces and rights including access to sports and full participation in educational programs and activities. Women and girls undergo various life experiences and societal expectations that hold them back in educational, job and sports experiences. Transgender women most likely have not faced these impediments growing up, having been brought up as boys. By filling meager quotas set aside for women with transgender women, we will see a big decrease in participation by women in sports and educational/job opportunities where women are underrepresented.
